

IMPROVING ACCESS TO MEDICATION ABORTION AMONG BLACK AND LATINX WOMEN IN GEORGIA

PROJECT OVERVIEW

This study uses a community-engaged reproductive justice approach to understand and address Black and Latinx women's multi-level barriers to medication abortion in Georgia. This project will develop a partnership between SisterLove, the oldest nonprofit serving women at risk of HIV/AIDS and other reproductive health barriers in Georgia, and RISE. The project team, working with diverse stakeholders, aims to explore how Black and Latinx women perceive and experience medication abortion as well as how sociocultural, policy, institutional, and individual-level factors influence their acceptance and use of medication abortion.

TIMELINE

TEAM

SisterLove, Inc

Co-Principal Investigator:

Dr. Dázon Dixon Diallo

Co-Investigator: Sequoia Ayala, JD MA

RISE

RISE Post-doctoral Fellow:

Dr. Elizabeth Mosley

Co-Principal Investigator: Dr. Kelli Hall

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Contact Sequoia Ayala, JD MA:

sayala@sisterlove.org

(404) 254-4734

Contact Dr. Elizabeth Mosley:

elizabeth.ann.mosley@emory.edu

(470) 219-8153